MY GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH

By John DeWalt, Rock Road, Shelby, RD 2, Ohio 44875

I believe there comes a time in the life of each of us, especially as we grow older, when we become interested in learning something about our ancestors. We begin by asking questions such as -- where were they born, where did they live, what was their occupation and where are they buried?

I began asking questions like these while I was still in school but I found out that wasn't soon enough.

My grandmother had told me that she was Scotch-Irish, and you will know this is true from names such as PAUL and CAMPBELL. Both families were in Columbiana County, Ohio, by 1807, coming from Washington County, Pa....

Ways to proceed in your research may be found in genealogy books and publications as well as in courses offered by genealogical societies.

Many contacts are also made with persons working on the same name, by filing five-generation charts and cards at the Ohio Genealogical Society and by attending genealogical society meetings.

A study of the area in which you are interested and its history is also a help.

As you receive information, be sure to record the source of each item and the date you receive it.

Incidents and stories connected with the family should also be written down to be added to your history.

Contact your source of information a second time, since older persons don't always recall names and dates on a first visit.

Don't make the mistake of waiting too long to check on your older relatives since information may be lost forever. Explain that you are recording a history of the family and most will be glad to help.

Be specific in what you're seeking such as names and dates, and offer to exchange information. Then there are the cemetery inscriptions in which one may find information. We in Richland County are fortunate to have most of them published ... (but) there are burials which have no markers, and in these cases cemetery associations and funeral directors may be of help.

The marriage of my great-grandparents, Wm. PAUL Jr. and Nancy CAMPBELL 19 May 1836, is recorded at the Columbiana County Courthouse and was sent to me by genealogist Carol Bell, and I also found it on record at the Ohio State Library in Columbus.

Glen PAUL of Eldora, Iowa, and Wm. McINTOSH of Clinton, Ohio, have each sent me PAUL family information, and I have exchanged information with them.

Recently I have received copies of pages from the PAUL family Bible which included the marriage of Artamissa PAUL and Andrew Solomon BUSHEY, along with family births, marriages and deaths.

My grandmother, Artamissa, was 4 years old when the PAUL family came ... to Richland County in 1852. She had also told me that she was a second cousin to both Alexander CAMPBELL and President Wm. McKinley.

My great-great-grandfather, also named Andrew BUSHEY, came to Ohio in 1835 from Cumberland County, Pa., in a covered wagon with his seven children, the oldest being 17, and his brother, Abraham, came about the same time. Their descendants have held reunions in Ohio since 1910, but it wasn't until 1936 that we learned there was a translation from German of the early records of the Bermudian Church in Adams County, Pa.

They included the BUSHEY (BUSCHI) family which came from Trippstadt to America in 1754.... The Bermudian Church records name Nicholas and Christina KNISLEY BUSHEY as the parents of Abraham and Andrew with the only other note: "went to Ohio."

The Adams County Historical Society at Gettysburg now have these records....

In some old letter found in the family was one written May 16, 1839, which closes with this line: "No more at present but a compliment of an affectionate mother to her two dear and only sons." And this was signed Christina Bushey to Abraham and Andrew Bushey. This was proof of connection between the Ohio and Pennsylvania families.

Also found was the voting list where Andrew BUSHEY voted Oct. 14, 1834, in Monroe Township, Cumberland County, Pa., before coming to Ohio in 1835.

Research in Germany was done for me by Jurgen Nickchen, a genealogist from Speyer, and with the help of Ernest Throde of the Palatines to America to translate the information for me. This included places of birth and sponsors of Johannes BUSCHI and his wife, Anna Catharina SCHMALENBERGER parents of Nicholas.

OGS has the passenger list at its library of the ship Recovery on which they came to America, landing in Philadelphia Oct. 23, 1754.

Records of the Busheys in attendance for communion at the Bermudian Church are to be found also at OGS in the Pennsylvania Traveler-Post and at the Adams County Historical Society.

Don Yoder of Devon, Pa., was also able to help me since there is a connection between his family, the CHRONISTERS, and the BUSHEYS....

On the DeWALT side of my family, my great-grandfather was Jeremiah and he lived in Cumberland County, Pa. He was married to Rebecca BARRICK, and through Perry Historians I have received four generations of ancestors, including BARRICKS, FLEISHER and LAMBERT names. The dates of birth and death of Jeremiah and Rebecca were copied from his marker at Center Church where he led the singing.

I then learned that the father of Jeremiah was Tobias and in the Cumberland County Courthouse found his will which listed his nine children.

While visiting in Pennsylvania in 1950, we were told of an old lady, then in her 80s, who was related, so we drove down the valley to McClure's Gap to see Amelia WAGGONER.... We asked if she had known a Tobias DeWALT, and you can imagine our surprise when she said, "Oh my yes, he was my grandfather."

From her we learned the names of his children and that he was buried in Entlersville Cemetery on land he donated. We copied the dates of birth and death of Tobias and Isabella, also of her brother Wm. T. KENNEDY and wife. We also received a picture of Tobias, but Isabella would never allow her picture to be taken.

In 1844, according to the tax list at the Cumberland County Historical Society Historical Society, Tobias owned 22 acres of farmland, eight acres of mountain land, a log house, a barn, a horse and a cow.

In an early day, all hauling of grain, lumber, tan bark supplies and necessary items was done by team and wagon, and stopping places were needed to eat and spend the night. Eleven miles was considered a day's journey, and you'll find many of the towns there are laid out at this distance.

In the 1850 census, we find Tobias listed as innkeeper on the mountain road between Cumberland and Perry counties. Amelia WAGGONER had told us that Isabella was known for the tea and cakes she served.

Isabella was a KENNEDY from Ireland, and through a request for information in a Perry County newspaper, I contacted a relative in Carlisle who sent me four generations of her ancestors which include DENNISTONS and HAYS (de HAES in 1652)....

I have received information from Zeigler Church Records listing the birth of Tobias and naming John and Mary (Polly) as his parents.... From the U.S. Military Institute at Carlisle, Pa., I received the Civil War records of my grandfather, Wm., who served two enlistments, one with his brother, Daniel.

*****

The story is told that when he and Daniel enlisted, their brother, John, who was under 14, ran away to join them, but Jeremiah, their father, went after him and found him in Virginia. He brought him back to Cumberland County and started him in the blacksmith business. John later became a wagon-maker with his shop in Oakville, Pa. His son, Ray, has many inventions to his credit ... (including) the first radial-arm saw in the 1920s...

Evidence of the DeWALT name has been found in this country as early as 1709, with various ways of spelling. In my research, I have found as many as 20 different family lines in addition to my own which dates to the 1770s. I have been told the name is French but find most emigrated from Germany, although I have not as yet found my DeWALT immigrant ancestor.

Namefinder

Each issue of The Pastfinder includes ancestor surname lists of members of the Richland and Ashland County chapters. All surnames printed in the newsletter MUST have some connection to either Richland or Ashland County, although the chapters include ALL surnames of members in their files. We also ask that a date or time period be included for each surname.

We have received a couple of letters of concern over why all members' surname lists have not yet appeared in the newsletter. Please be patient. Both chapters have grown to several hundred members most of whom have at least one and many a long list of Richland and Ashland county ancestors. Since space in the newsletter is limited, we feel a variety of information should be included in each issue and therefore have printed only a portion of the surnames in each issue. Even so, we hope to be caught up in the July issue.

There may be another reason why you haven't seen your surnames in The Pastfinder. Did you indicate a Richland or Ashland County connection? If they did not and your ancestors DID live in these counties, please resubmit your surnames and we'll be glad to use them. The deadline for submission of material to the newsletter is one month before the publication month (June 1 for the July issue).
